

Particles and width profile translate together: a sign-changing force under mesh phase is grid anchored, not physical.